TOP SPIN PUBLISHING, INC. Sports & Activities Directory

(954) 806-9714 Office
2114 N. Flamingo Road, #1269
Pembroke Pines, FL 33028
Website: www.sportsandactivities.com

Dear Readers,

Welcome to the best season in South Florida, FALL! Hurricane scares are gone, weather begins to change, our communities come alive again and begin co-mingling in yards and in parks. We gather at football games, head out to Halloween events and stay busy with school and extracurricular activities. Every year, I write about how much I love the first cool breeze that blows in from the North and lowers the humidity, this year being no exception. It is just a wonderful time of the year and I enjoy publishing this issue more than the others in anticipation of these things happening!

We are so blessed to have so many great events, sports, clubs and activities in our communities all year long, however this is the time most families do their planning for the year.

Afterschool programs, sports, hobbies, vacations, events are all put on the 2015 - 2016 calendar. I love bringing all of these things together to assist your family in the planning. Many new activities and sports are added each quarter, making an abundant array of options in the pages ahead.

One of the greatest gifts of publishing the Sports & Activities Directory has been to hear about how our readers discovered a new interest, skill or passion by participating in something we have published. Honestly, everyone that works in our company experiences the same discoveries. We have team members who have become Guardian ad Litem (Melissa), Rotarians (me), and members of organizations such as Women in Business (Kelly) and Chamber of Commerce (Kim, Linda, Julie). Some have tried new sports or activities they never would have done before such as yoga (Kelly), skydiving (me), and Honor Flight (Linda). Personally, I am so proud that this team of ours is so passionate. We all have expanded our horizons, taken chances and grown by being a part of this publication. I am very proud of these women and their accomplishments and am very blessed to be working with them.

As I have mentioned each issue this year, in early January I put together a bucket list for 2015. I set a few goals and promised I would let our readers know as I put a check mark by each box. This August, I checked off a big box when I went skydiving. What a rush! You can read more about the experience in the main directory section (red tabbed). This quarter I have three things left to accomplish: learning to sew, landing a national account and becoming proficient at driving a boat alone. All are very attainable goals and I have already begun working on two of them. Stay tuned.

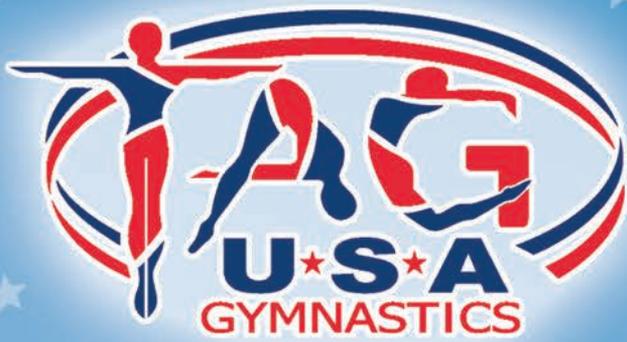

Our entire team wishes you and your families the very best of holidays. Remember to find time to give to the less fortunate this season. Make it your family's bucket list to make a difference in your community. Your kindness and generosity will grow exponentially.

My best to you,

Margot

AROUND WESTON

OCTOBER - DECEMBER 2015

LETTER FROM THE MAYOR

Dear Residents,

The Thanksgiving holiday is a time to reflect. We look at all we have to be thankful for and the freedoms that we cherish; it reminds us to help others less fortunate. While an American tradition, it is one that is shared and cherished no matter where we came from.

Since 1992, the annual Harvest Drive culminates each year in November. This year-round project of Children Helping Children is the fundraising and food gathering effort of over 150 public and private schools, as well as churches, temples and community organizations to provide a complete Thanksgiving meal and a week's worth of groceries and necessities to over 2000 food insecure families. The Harvest Drive was initiated at Country Isles Elementary School right here in Weston. In the spirit of Thanksgiving, we would encourage you to do what you can, if you can, to help children help other children in need; please visit www.harvestdriveflorida.com.

While the calendar year has not yet come to an end, the city's fiscal year has. A new budget was adopted with no increase in the City millage rate. The ad valorem rate is also still the lowest in Broward County. It remains unchanged at 2.3900 and we are proud to tell you that it will maintain the same level of quality services that Weston residents have come to enjoy and expect.

Our events season is in full swing and runs through May 2016. The City, in conjunction with the Arts Council of Greater Weston, will offer many great events for families. These include the monthly Moonlight Movies in the Park series, performing arts programs for children at the Weston Community Center, Symphony of the Americas concerts - both ticketed and free, the new WestonNights Outdoor Concert series, a Winter Safety Expo, the Celebrate the Arts event, Weston WorldFest, the Royal Egg Hunt, and much more. Activities such as the Mayor's Get Fit Challenge Cup 1-Mile Walk give families the opportunity to focus on fitness. Please look for details of these and other events on our City website at Westonfl.org/Events.

Lastly, I will end on the suggestion of vigilance to not leave valuables in sight in vehicles, and to always, always lock your car doors. Weston is a safe community, but whether you are just running into the house for a moment, dropping a child off at day-care or pumping gas at the gas station, remember to – Lock it, don't Lose it.

I, on behalf of the entire City Commission and staff, wish you and your families a safe, happy and healthy holiday season and New Year.

Until next time...

Daniel J. Stermer
Mayor

HARVEST Drive

23rd Anniversary of Children Helping Children & Families Stamp Out Hunger

By Melissa Harless, Managing Director of Publishing • Photos by Kimberly O'Neill

Back in 1992, Renée Herman took it upon herself to organize a food drive at Country Isles Elementary that would provide a week's worth of groceries to 20 Weston area families who were down on their luck. She rallied the students to help with neighborhood canned food drives and camped outside of Publix Supermarkets to accept donations. They succeeded and the 20 families in need were fed. But she didn't stop there. Twenty-three years later, Renée is still on a mission to stamp out hunger and help families in need.

Since the inaugural Harvest Drive, the number of families in need multiplied, as did the amount of help required to accomplish such a task. After many years of orchestrating the details of this annual event, Renée has been blessed with several special people to assist her in her efforts. Kim O'Neill, Susan Gross, Davi Leoniff, Jodi Samson and Amy Freund all volunteer to share the responsibilities. "It takes thousands of people to make this happen every year. Organizations such as the Rotary Club of Weston and Plantation Rotary have been instrumental in helping with donations and money to buy groceries. Businesses such as The Castle Group help with a tremendous amount of volunteers. Individuals such as Jim Norton, Michael Freedland, Steve Goldstein and Robert Harms among many others, have been life savers in the 11th hour when we did not have enough food for the promised families," said Renée.

Another unique characteristic of the program is the compassion and dedication displayed each year by students who contribute. "What really makes this work, what is really special about Harvest Drive, is that it is the students and the schools that gather what we need and volunteer their time to make this a reality," she says. Many of the students volunteer every year and she has formed a lasting bond with them throughout her time organizing the Harvest Drive. "Teaching children at an early age that their contributions can make a difference in the lives of others is what makes this project so rewarding," Renée adds. Not only does this make the hard work and sacrifice pay off, it gives her hope for the future and inspires her to do even more.

This year, over 200 public and private schools are involved in the mission to collect enough food to feed over 2,200 families throughout Broward County. Distribution sites will be set up at 13 local schools, with Western High School being the largest. In addition to these sites, approximately 198 other schools will be taking donations that will then be divided up between the area distribution sites.

Families with children in Broward County Schools are referred to the Harvest Drive by Broward County social workers as well as other local social service agencies based on their financial need. In addition to the week's worth of groceries and Thanksgiving dinner, families are able to shop in the Harvest Drive's makeshift stores for a variety of household items that have been donated. Volunteers work all year long collecting donations for the "Harvest Drive Boutiques" so that these families may find things they need at no cost to them. Western High, Pompano High and Westglades Middle School will be fully stocked with items such as toiletries, shoes, gently used toys, clothes and books; items that many of us may take for granted are most in need by these families.

"What keeps me awake at night worrying is that the day before the families arrive that week before Thanksgiving, we will be short. We need cash donations so we can buy the items we are short at the last minute. I cannot bear the thought that our local, neighborhood families will go hungry when so many individuals, businesses and organizations have so much to give," she said. Herman does not comprehend the word "no" when it comes to Harvest Drive. Her passion, persistence and work ethic will not allow her to accept "no".

The Harvest Drive team continues their efforts throughout the year. They would like to give special recognition to the North Broward Preparatory Middle School for their Fundraising efforts and collections for Harvest Drive. For the past 3 years they have assisted 75 Broward County School families with food and a boutique at their Spring Into Action Drive. "100% goes to these families in need! No one gets paid to run this organization," Renée says. "We need more help. Hunger is a year round challenge."

In addition to the businesses and individuals mentioned above, Renée and her team would also like to thank Carolina Ale House, Children's Services Council of Broward County, Whole Foods, Ultimate Software, Hard Rock Hotel & Casino, Florida Panthers and Memorial Healthcare System for their continued partnership.

Savannah's Soldiers Says "Thank You" to Our Troops

By Debby Teich

Thousands of men and women are abroad fighting for our country 24/7. Fourteen-year-old Savannah Maddison of Weston understands how much a simple letter can mean to the soldiers, who are separated from family, friends and loved ones. In 2011, she started Savannah's Soldiers, a letter writing campaign to encourage kids across America to write letters of encouragement to our troops. Her organization has already mailed more than 100,000 letters. She recently won a $1,000 scholarship from Kohl's Department Stores for her efforts.

"Freedom is something that we do not think about often as kids living in the United States, but there are many men and women who leave their families behind to allow us the freedoms that we enjoy here," said Savannah. "We need to support our troops even if just with a letter. We need to let them know that we support them and are thankful for their service to our wonderful country."

Savannah started the organization after her best friend's dad was deployed. Since she loves to sing, she wrote him a deployment song. She quickly realized that she wanted to more, so she adopted his Army unit and committed to sending all 700 of them one letter a month until they returned from Afghanistan. Savannah's Soldiers has continued to evolve into much more and now sends letters all over the world and to all branches of the military.

Savannah encourages both children and adults to participate by setting up letter writing tables at events and getting the word out through a variety of venues. She partners with hundreds of schools and organizations across the country, as well as many major sports teams, such as Miami Marlins, Florida Panthers, Miami Heat, Dallas Mavericks, and Boston Red Sox. She organizes a national art competition called "Made in America" to collect artwork from kids. She reaches out to the media and has been featured in places like TODAY, Fox and Friends, Larry King Now, NY Daily News, Huffington Post, Time for Kids magazine, and more. She also speaks and performs for thousands of kids every month to motivate them to follow their dreams.

"I look forward to the day when every school and organization in the country is working with us," said Savannah. "We all have the ability to give back in some capacity and I truly believe that you are never too young to make a difference. Getting involved in community service makes the world a better place. I encourage everyone to join me on my mission to change the world."

The troops often show their gratitude by writing a message on the Savannah's Soldiers Facebook page, sending a letter or even stopping by the office in person. "The responses are my favorite part," said Savannah. "Sometimes I even get to interview the service men and women that received our letters after they have returned home. I love that!"

Savannah recently received a $1,000 Kohl's Cares Scholarship to be used toward higher education for the positive impact her volunteer efforts have had on the community. Only 200 of the more than 32,000 nominees that applied nationwide received regional scholarships. "Kohl's is thrilled to recognize this year's winners of the Kohl's Cares Scholarship Program, and we applaud their efforts to better the communities in which they live," said Bevin Bailis, Kohl's senior vice president of communications and public relations. "It is an honor to support these students as they pursue higher education and continue to inspire all of us to serve others."

In addition to community service, Savannah is also passionate about singing, performing and writing music. When she graduates, she hopes to perform around the world.

Rotary Club of Weston Prepares for the 18th Annual Run for Tomorrow

By Debby Teich

Runners in Weston and the surrounding areas have been busy training for the Rotary Club of Weston's 18th Annual Run for Tomorrow 5K and Half Marathon, presented by Dynaserve and the City of Weston. Participants of all fitness levels and ages, from babies in strollers to seniors, will gather for the race, 1-Mile Family Health Walk/Run (Mayor's Get Fit Challenge Cup) and Get Fit Fest, which will all be held on December 13, at Cypress Bay High School in Weston. Last year, approximately 1,200 Run/Walk participants and 2,000 visitors attended the event.

"The Weston Run for Tomorrow provides a family fun event for the residents of Weston," said Frank Walker, event chair. "The success of this event, in its 18th year, provides support to over 20 area charities. The money helps to support the less fortunate in our area. You can have a great time and make a difference in people's lives at the same time."

The Run for Tomorrow is one of the Rotary Club's largest annual charitable fundraisers. Last year, it netted approximately $58,000. Proceeds go to the Weston Rotary Club's local and international charitable, health, and educational projects, such as Harvest Drive, Susan B. Anthony Recovery Center, LifeNet4Families, Hope Outreach, Nininger Veterans' Nursing Home, Horse Heroes, Rotary International's fight to end Polio, and many others.

Registration opens at 5am, with races starting at 6:20am. The half marathon and 5K courses are USATF certified and wind through the tree-lined streets of Weston. Friends, families, and kids of all ages are invited to sign up for the 1-Mile Family Health Walk, which starts at 9am and is not timed.

Weston area elementary students will also have an opportunity to participate in the Mayor's Get Fit Challenge. The school team with the highest percentage of participation wins the Mayor's Get Fit Challenge Cup, a cash prize, and bragging rights until next year. Eight elementary schools will be joining in the fun, along with volunteers from Cypress Bay High School and Western High School. Last year, over 600 elementary school students participated, and Imagine Charter School at Weston won the challenge, as well as the $1,500 cash prize.

"We are taking a proactive family approach to the wellness of our Weston area students," said Walker. "In a time when childhood obesity is at an all-time high, Weston Rotary and our Mayor have teamed up to make a difference by bringing awareness to families about the importance of being physically fit. Our participants will experience a "get fit" family walk. Following the walk will be festival for the whole family with kid's activities and attractions."

The Get Fit Fest will be open from 9am to 1pm at Cypress Bay High School. Last year, more than 60 local, regional and national companies participated in this community street festival, which is dedicated to health and wellness. It features a day of fitness events, lifestyle and wellness vendors, health screenings, food, entertainment, kid activities, exhibits, demonstrations and more. There will also be a children's play area.

The Rotary Club of Weston consists of over 125 local businesses, professional, and community leaders united in fellowship, high ethical standards, and the motto of "Service Above Self." The club, which has served the Weston area since 1987, meets at 7:30am for breakfast every Thursday at Weston Hills Country Club and addresses the needs of the community through the committed volunteerism and funding support of its diverse membership. Weston Rotarians focus their community service efforts in the areas of Services to Youth (education, scholarship, health, leadership development), Services to Families-In-Need, and International Service projects.

Brian Piccolo Park's Velodrome Offers a Safe Place for Riding and In-line Skating

By Debby Teich

There is only one velodrome in Florida and it is right here in Broward County. Located at Brian Piccolo Park, the facility attracts more than 3,500 athletes annually and is used for both competitive and recreational cycling, as well as in-line skating. It also hosts a variety of races for riders of all ages and abilities.

The velodrome opened in March 1992 and hosted its first major race a year later. It is a banked oval track for bicycle racing. The competitive track is 333.3 meters long with maximum banking of approximately 30 degrees at the apex of each turn. The recreational track is 200 meters long and has a maximum 10-degree banking at each end. Bright lights allow cyclists to ride safely after dark.

"Riding on a velodrome gives you a sense of speed, safety, and exhilaration," said Carl Sundquist, an accomplished rider who works for the Florida Velodrome Association. "Velodromes were created as racing venues. If you ride with a group on the velodrome, your sense of speed and the visceral feeling of going faster than you felt possible will make you feel exalted. Because they are designed exclusively for use by bicycles, you can focus on your riding with none of the concerns of riding on city streets."

Riders must use the proper bikes for velodrome cycling. Since the bikes do not have multiple gears or brakes, they help maximize speed, reduce weight, and avoid sudden braking. They are available for rent at the facility, along with other necessary equipment. Helmets are also required when riding the track. Cyclists with other types of bikes can use the Brian Piccolo Road Course, which is adjacent to the velodrome and has a paved course with 500 and 800-meter loops.

Anyone can ride at the velodrome Monday to Friday, from 3:15pm to 9:45pm; Saturday, from 8am to 9:45pm; and Sunday/holidays, from 8am to 7:30pm. Several types of riders use the facility. Some enjoy traditional bicycle racing, while others are triathletes or part of the "fixie" group that rides single speed, fixed gear bicycles. Many riders also use the velodrome for easy riding at less than race speeds and without any racing interests, because it is a safe place to ride. On Monday nights, from 6:30pm to 9pm, weather permitting, new riders can learn the basics of how to ride comfortably on the track, as well as how to ride with other riders on the track.

From November to March, the velodrome will host several races. The Florida Junior State Championships (ages 10-18) will be held November 14-15. The fall racing series will be held on Saturday afternoons, at 5pm, on November 7, 14, 21, and at 4pm on December 5 and 12. The winter racing series, which begins in January, will also be held on Saturdays. Racing is broken down into three groups based on relative experience and fitness so new riders do not have to feel intimidated by competing with experienced, highly fit riders. All of the Saturday race series will have three races for each of the three groups. Riders typically ride all three of the races in their group.

There is a family atmosphere at the races. Riders are very supportive of each other, and friends and families love to watch. "A velodrome is unique in bicycle racing," said Sundquist. "In a road race or mountain bike race, spectators can only see the riders flash by for a second or two. In the velodrome, every seat and viewing point shows the entire track, so the spectators' viewing experience includes non-stop action."

Sundquist is one of the frequent riders at the velodrome. Since he started racing in 1982, he has been second in the world championships, a member of the 1988 and 1992 Olympic teams, and won 18 national championships. "At age 54, I am still racing and can't see stopping," said Sundquist. "There is so much I love about riding, including the sense of freedom, accomplishment and competition. I feel connected to my surroundings. I love how I feel when I am worn out after a good hard ride."

Sundquist says he loves the intensity of racing at the velodrome. "Track racing condenses the same intensity of races like the Tour de France into much shorter races," said Sundquist. "It is fantastic for both rider and spectator. I love the Velodrome!"

There is a $5 fee to use the Velodrome. Except for special events, there is no charge to use the Road Course. The park's regular weekend and holiday gate entrance fee applies. For information, call (954) 357-5160.

Local Athletes Participate in European Maccabi Games in Berlin

By Debby Teich

More than 2,100 amateur Jewish athletes from 36 countries participated in the 2015 European Maccabi Games in Berlin, Germany this past summer. During the 8-day Olympics-style competition, they had an opportunity to test their strength and endurance while they created long-lasting friendships. Many of the athletes were from West Broward.

Team USA consisted of 168 athletes, primarily between 15 and 25 years old. They participated on 20 teams and competed in 14 sports: Badminton, Basketball, Bridge, Chess, Equestrian-Dressage, Fencing, Field Hockey, Golf, Half Marathon, Soccer, Swimming, Table Tennis, Tennis and Water Polo.

Some of the USA team members from the area included:

- Open Men's Basketball: Ross Udine, Weston
- Youth Men's Soccer: Jake Fuhrman and Ilan Naibruf, Weston
- Junior Boys' Basketball: Harrison Arnberg and Michael Egozi, Weston
- Junior Boys' Swimming: Elad Fraiman, Davie
- Open Men's Water Polo: Tomas Tussie, Weston

The games, however, were about much more than just athletics. They also stood for tolerance and world peace and against anti-Semitism and racism. They were filled with emotion and symbolism. It was no coincidence that the opening ceremonies took place in Berlin's Olympic Park, which was built for the 1936 Olympics, when Jewish athletes were excluded from participating. This same Olympics also served as a showcase for Hitler's rise to power in Germany.

Jake Fuhrman was captain of the USA Youth Men's Soccer team. He is currently a senior at Cypress Bay High School. Since his freshman year, he has been a starter on the boys' soccer team, which was ranked best in the state in 2013 and 2015. Some of Fuhrman's soccer accolades include All County Soccer (2015) and Boys All County Soccer (2013). He is hoping to play soccer at the college level.

In Berlin, his team's roster consisted of 16 players, including Ilan Naibruf of Weston. After beating Germany, the team lost in the Bronze Medal Match to Sweden (1-0).

"I've been lucky enough to play soccer in roughly ten different states around the USA, participating in showcases, camps and league games, but nothing compares to this," said Fuhrman. "This definitely was the experience of a lifetime. It was an amazing opportunity to represent my country and travel the world at the same time. It was interesting seeing the different styles of play from other countries. I made many new friends and we played at one of the best facilities in the world against teams from all over Europe."

Ross Udine played on the USA Open Men's Basketball team. Udine is currently a sophomore at New York University, where he plays point guard for the men's basketball team. In 2014, he graduated from Cypress Bay High School, where he helped lead the Lightning Boys Basketball team to three district championships. As a senior, he was named First Team All-County and Third Team All-State; selected to the Dade/Broward All-Star Game and the Big Eight All-Tournament Team.

In Berlin, he was part of a 12-man team that included a few pros and several high-level college players. Although they were only together a couple of weeks, Udine says that the team really bonded. The squad posted a 4-1 record and came away with the Silver Medal after falling to Russia in the Gold Medal Game.

"Playing basketball for the USA Maccabi Team was an absolutely remarkable experience," said Udine. "To be able to represent your country and religion in such an iconic and historical event was a blessing. Being invited to participate in these games, especially in a place so historically significant to the Jewish people as Berlin, was an honor and I am so thankful for the opportunity. I had an amazing time with my teammates, coaches and family. Being in Germany with all of these amazing people from different countries was truly a life-changing experience that I will never forget."

Harrison Arnberg and Michael Egozi played on the Junior Boys' Basketball team, which beat Israel in the Gold medal game (83-70). "The games were an all around amazing experience, between meeting people from other countries and competing in international basketball," said Arnberg, who is a sophomore at American Heritage School. "We practiced at the Charlottenberg Sporthalle," said Egozi, who is a sophomore at Pine Crest School. "We stood at center court with our eyes closed and imagined what it would feel like to have returned to Germany in triumph and have a Gold medal placed around our necks."

Two other local athletes also played well. Tomas Tussie played on the Open Men's Water Polo team, which beat Germany (16-3) in the Bronze Medal game. Elad Fraiman was a member of the Junior Boys' Swimming team. He won a Gold medal in the 200m Medley; Silver medal in the 100m Backstroke; and Bronze medal in the 50m Breaststroke.

Fins Up! with Michael Thomas

By Julia Kasper

Q&A

Miami Dolphins Safety #31, Michael Thomas, took time out from practice to talk about growing up in the state of Texas playing football.

Q: You played quarterback all through high school, how did you end up as a Safety?

MT: I played against Andrew Luck, as a quarterback in high school in Texas, and it just so happened that Stanford took Luck as QB the same year I was going to college. The Stanford coaches saw leadership in me, and wanted to get the ball in my hands. Safety was a good fit for me. I'm still friends with Luck and Harbaugh today.

Q: What sports did you play growing up?

MT: I used to play basketball because my mom wouldn't let me play football until I was in middle school. She didn't want me to get hurt when I was younger, and she thought I would have more appreciation for the sport and not burn out, if I waited to play.

Q: Do you remember meeting an athlete that you really looked up to?

MT: In high school, I met Vince Young when he won the National Championship with the University of Texas. He taught me how to throw a slant route, because I was a QB who would run a lot, so that was a big help to me.

Q: Do you have a motto you live by?

MT: Control what you can control. I first heard it from Derek Mason, who is now the head coach at Vanderbilt.

FUTSOC – THE ELITE SOCCER ACADEMY...

the blueprint for now and the future

FUTSOC (FUTbol – SOCcer) is the name of one of the most successful clubs in South Florida, the State of Florida and the entire U.S. over the past fifteen years. It is the hidden gem in the soccer rich City of Weston. Born of an idea to truly focus entirely all the efforts and objectives of the club on the TRUE development and success of the fine young student athletes who comprise their specialized club, FUTSOC has developed a methodology which combines all the modern elements of the game of this generation, without sacrificing the proven principles and values which so strongly forged individuals in prior ones. FUTSOC is a deliberately small but greatly successful club, which is run by a family group of most dedicated mentors and coaches and an outstanding support staff, who collectively have over 80 years of coaching experience, at all youth and amateur levels of the game. Opting to focus primarily on qualitative factors and secondarily on the quantitative ones, over the years they have been able to shape fine young men into productive influences in our communities, while providing them with a development program, which is second to none!

Today's game has developed greatly in its technical and tactical training methodologies, and FUTSOC has been at the very forefront in these important aspects. However, it is also true that while the focus of most clubs has evolved into a simplified concept enveloped into a business plan with ever-expanding plans to generate profitability in order to "procure" tangible success, at FUTSOC, the profit factor is not of great import or significance. Counting on the strong financial support of the club's ownership and an enviable list of devoted personal and corporate sponsors, the success at FUTSOC has been matured so that they promote the inherent emotional, psychological, physiological and nutritional composition of each player to its highest form, in complementing their technical, tactical and physical development. Addressing the most significant concerns, the club nurtures the more important personal values of each young life... self-esteem, respect, dedication, sacrifice, friendship, trust, passion, love, camaraderie, sportsmanship and humility. When these critical virtues and qualities form the foundation of any human being especially in a young man, the personal growth is exponential, it is permanent and undoubtedly inclusive of a wider scope of life applications for the present and the future, both in sports and otherwise.

It is indisputable that FUTSOC has been synonymous with proven excellence over the past decades, due to a great adherence to those values, those principles that they insistently and consistently stress on and off the field of play. With three, five-year cycles of their development program (Project: ENIGMA) already completed, these have yielded proven nationally recognized results – three of those teams ended among the top ranked teams in the nation, defeating many of the much larger soccer clubs all over the U.S. and abroad and many USSF Soccer Development Academies they competed against, and of greater significance, have provided for over one hundred students to attain scholarships at universities and colleges throughout the country. They are very proud to also have developed players who have moved on to represent the U.S. at various national team levels, some at foreign countries' national teams and yet others, at professional clubs in the professional ranks in the U.S., South America, Central America and Europe. Most recently, the City of Weston honored the club with a special proclamation for its final season ranking as the No. 1 boys U18/19 team in the nation, according to the prestigious youth soccer ranking services.

The club is set up to maximize the development progression of their youths, adhering to its FUTSOC DEVELOPMENTAL MATRIX and is structured, as follows:

BAMBINOS ACADEMY (U6 – U10) / YOUTH ACADEMY (U11 – U19) / AMATEUR ACADEMY (U20 – U23)

At FUTSOC, the focus is NOT exclusively on winning, but rather in providing its players with the necessary and mandatory tools to not only succeed in this magical game of FUTbol – SOCcer, but also, to grow, to develop and mature into stand-out young men in our society. It is the FUTSOC creed... a promise to each young man who becomes a part of their very unique family! At FUTSOC, it is the player who reigns supreme... it is they who make the club what it is! Their motto... "For the players, by the players!" In Catalan, the club heritage and colors they represent... "Per als Jugadors, pels Jugadors!"

Weston Baseball Player Is Hitting a Home Run

By Debby Teich

Freddie Sultan was only seven years old when he began to develop a passion for baseball. After years of dedication and hard work, the Weston resident is well on his way to achieving his dream of playing professional baseball. He currently attends Winthrop University in Rock Hill, South Carolina, where he is a left-handed pitcher for the Winthrop Eagles.

"It took only one season to realize that this was what I wanted to be," said Freddie. "I dropped everything else and focused solely on baseball. I watched games on television; attended high school, college and pro games; and studied teaching videos on hitting, so I could learn how to beat the batters at their own game. I grew to love the challenge of the game, my teammates, the demands of my coaches, travelling to play other teams, and the time I spent with my Dad."

Freddie started playing coach pitch baseball in the fall of 2003. By the spring of 2004, he was already playing travel baseball with the Weston Rattlers. In 2007, his 10U Weston Rattlers team won second place in the AABC Willie Mays World Series in Cantano, Puerto Rico. In 2009, he played with the USA Travel Baseball Club 12U team that won Cooperstown Dreams Park in Cooperstown, New York, and in 2010 he played on the Weston Hawks 14U team that won the USSSA Fall Nationals in Orlando, Florida.

Once in high school, he played two years of JV baseball at Cypress Bay High School and University School at NSU and then two years of varsity baseball at University School. He spent three summers playing High School Elite Ball with the South Florida Elite Squad. During his junior summer, he played with the Elite Squad in the 16U Perfect Game World Series in Goodyear, Arizona and finished runner-up. As a senior, he earned First Team All-County Honors as a pitcher. Winthrop University, which plays in The Big South Conference, also extended him an offer, which included an academic scholarship, and he committed to play for their baseball team.

"I was very happy (and relieved) to receive an offer from a great baseball program like Winthrop," said Freddie. "The college recruiting process is rigorous. There's a lot of good competition out there, but as long as you work hard to be a good player and even a better student, there's almost always a school that will want you. My goal was to play D1 baseball and, in the end, it was Winthrop that believed in me."

Last year, the Eagles went 40-19 for the season. The team made it to the semi-finals in the Big South Conference Tournament and finished the season with a 14 game conference winning streak. As a freshman, Freddie played in 20 games and pitched 38 innings (recording 31 strike outs to just 12 walks). He started several games and ended the season with a winning record and one save. Over the summer, he was invited to play in the Florida League in Central Florida, which is affiliated with Major League Baseball.

Some things about the game have not changed since he was a kid. Freddie continues to wear #35, for his favorite lefty pitcher, Dontrell Willis, who helped the Florida Marlins win their second World Series in 2003. The level of competition and camaraderie, however, is more intense than ever. "At this level, everyone is so amazingly good," said Freddie. "Every hitter in the line-up is like facing the best hitter on a high school team. Everyone is very mature in their approach, their attitude and their forward thinking. Everything I do now and am surrounded by is like pro ball."

In addition to baseball, Freddie is also committed to academics. He is currently majoring in business, with a concentration in finance. He finished his freshman year with a 3.45 GPA and made the Dean's list. "Growing up, I was always told to work hard in school, because when you have good grades everything else comes easier and with less pressure," said Freddie. "I understand that there will be life after baseball. I'm in school to get my degree and to obtain a higher education, which is something that once I earn, can never be taken away from me."

Ultimately, Freddie hopes to earn his way into the pros (Minor Leagues) for any team, but he recognizes that it is not entirely in his hands. "I can only do what I can control," said Freddie. "Hopefully, someone will give me the same opportunity that Winthrop did. The path is simple - play well and they will find you! Only time will tell. As is well stated in the movie "Moneyball," one never knows when the game is going to tell you that it's over. I'm just making the most of my opportunity and enjoying the ride every step of the way."

If Freddie does not get drafted, he plans to pursue a graduate degree or go to law school. "Whatever I do, I will work hard and do my best," said Freddie. "In the long run, I would love to have a family of my own and help my children pursue their dreams like my parents have helped me."

PICKLEBALL IS FUN

FOR ALL AGES AND ABILITIES

By Debby Teich

Pickleball is one of the fastest growing recreational sports in America. The game, which combines Ping-Pong, tennis, and badminton, has been popular with area residents since it was introduced in an outdoor hockey rink at Pine Island Park in 2013. After some recent renovations, the park now has six permanent courts, making it one of the premier Pickleball facilities in the state. It offers open play, as well as leagues and tournaments.

"Pickleball is a fun sport that can be played by individuals of all fitness and skill levels," said Jeff Pohlman, Operations Management Professional for the Town of Davie. "It provides you with a great cardio workout, socialization, and fun!"

Pickleball is easy for beginners to learn, but can develop into a quick, fast-paced, competitive game for experienced players. It can be played either as singles or doubles. Players use a baseball sized whiffle ball and a paddle on a court that is approximately one-third the size of a tennis court. They volley the ball back and forth to score on the opposing team. Players must learn a unique set of Pickleball terms, such as "dillball, flabjack, v0ll3y llama, falafel, oPA! and pickledome."

In 1965, U.S. Congressman Joel Pritchard, William Bell, and Barney McCallum created Pickleball to provide a sport for the entire family. They named it after Pickles, the family dog that would chase stray balls and then hide in the bushes. Initially, families played Pickleball in their backyards, on driveways, and on residential dead-end streets. In the mid-1970's, it grew into a game played on a paddle court with formalized rules.

The sport currently has over 400,000 players in the United States and many of them are in South Florida. There is even a USA Pickleball Association (USAPA), as well as tournaments and competitions. Pickleball was designed to be easy to learn and play whether you're five, eighty-five or somewhere in between. It has become very popular among active senior adults, as well as among high schools and college students.

The courts at Pine Island Park are available daily for Drop-In Open Play, from 9am to 9pm, except during scheduled League Play. Players should bring their own paddles and balls. They can also borrow a paddle from the Multi-Purpose Center. There is a "Challenge Court" system on all of the courts during Open Play. When a team loses they must come off the court if "Challengers" have placed their paddles in the designated area. The "Challengers" then play the winners of the previous game.

Organized Drop-in Play is offered on Tuesdays and Thursdays, from 5pm to 9pm, and Saturdays, from 8am to noon. Fifteen to 25 players from around the area typically gather to play pick-up games. Everyone is welcome, including individuals who have never played the game.

"We have beginners, intermediate, and advanced players," said Pohlman. "Individuals that use our courts are always happy to teach and introduce Pickleball to new players and beginners. There is a true sense of community on our courts."

On Wednesdays, players can join the Co-Ed PickleBall League. The next league will begin in January. It will run for 10 weeks, using a Round Robin format, followed by a single elimination tournament. If there are more than 10 teams, organizers will split the league in to multiple divisions based on skill level to create an even playing field. All matches will be played at 6pm and 7pm. Each match is a best of three games and all three games will be to 11 points. Registration is $20 per person/$40 per team and includes a league T-Shirt. There will be awards for 1st, 2nd and 3rd place.

"Pickleball is so much fun," said Harriett Weinstein, who switched from tennis to Pickleball after her 73rd birthday. "It is a great workout and very social. I play with my grandchildren and we have a great time together."

Beginning January 2016, there will be a $30 per year non-resident fee to use the Pickleball courts. For more information, call (954) 327-3929 or send an email to Sam_Gulla@davie-fl.gov.

DOWN

NEVER

By Margot Lyons Puleri

THE moment, MY moment, was when the plane door opened at 10,000 feet with a huge steady blast of wind that brought so much welcomed noise into my head. Fifteen minutes prior, five of us which included my older daughter Taylor, a pilot, two instructors and me, crammed into a tiny plane and took off over Lake Okeechobee. Taking it all in, there was only a deep but steady hum of the engine slowly climbing to altitude, plenty of time for my mind to prepare itself for what it thought was to come. The instructors were clicking off hundreds of photos of us with the GoPros that were strapped to their arms. Many what if's, many projections of what I imagined the jump would be like, and many images from skydiving videos were bouncing around my head like bursting popcorn.

When I got the "it's time" tap from my tandem skydiving instructor, Eric, he put my goggles snugly over my eyes and connected me to him with many heavy-duty hooks. He then pulled the harness straps to squish us together in a spooning position. I was genuinely comforted by how tightly we were bound together. I remembered one thing that the ground instructor said to us before we got on the plane; I am not jumping out, he is going to roll us out. That was a relief as well, as I am not sure my brain could have told me "Now!" Then the door opened.

The switch flipped in my head. I went from being in the moment, ready to check off this highly anticipated, thrilling "bucket list" event to having only what could be explained as an out of body experience. My heart wasn't racing, the second thoughts I may have had were gone, but my hand was strangling the strap in the plane above my head. I looked over my shoulder one last time at Taylor who was jumping right after me, but no words came, not that she could have heard me. I looked down towards the step which was too tiny for my feet, and then to the checkerboard farm land far, far beneath. It all seemed so surreal. Robotically, I did exactly what the instructor said,

"Right foot out onto the step, left foot onto the step, smile at the camera, give a thumbs up, 3, 2, 1..." and we rolled out of this perfectly good plane.

Free falling at 100mph, face flapping, holding onto my chest straps for dear life, as if that might have helped if things went wrong, I watched myself careen towards the ground. I forgot everything they told me to do like arch my back and put my head back. There was no time to think, no time to feel, I was not sure if I was even breathing. Eric told me to put my arms out like I was flying, smile for the camera and give more thumbs up. Apparently I did just that according to the photos you see here on this spread. He later told me that we were free falling for 35 - 40 seconds, but it seemed like a split second.

Just before he pulled the chute cord, Eric motioned for me to pull in my arms and hold onto the chest straps, which I was more than happy to do. I heard the pop of the chute catching the wind and we catapulted with a strong jolt up, up, up. All at once, it was alarmingly quiet again, just a soft whoosh of the wind and ruffling of the chute. I was back in the moment, back into my "bucket list" moment. He said I could put my goggles around my neck. He pointed at Taylor's chute up above us, I was so happy to see her floating safely down. I saw the airport landing strip below; I saw a flock of egrets flying in formation over Lake Okeechobee; I saw a plane in the distance. I knew I would never look out of a plane window the same way again after today.

Floating on the wind currents, I was whooping and awwwing and using words like "unreal", "what a rush", "incredible". I could see my younger daughter, Cara, in her bright pink sweatshirt on the ground taking photos of us as we lofted overhead. Eric pulled a toggle on the right and we swooped into a right circle, losing altitude too quickly for my comfort zone. I was more scared at the moment than at the jump moment. My equilibrium went screwy and I got a little dizzy. He then more gently pulled the left toggle and we glided over the hangar. Coming in at what seemed to me to be too fast, he told me to bend my knees and lift my legs. At the last second he did something that made us swing up a bit to slide our butts gently onto the very welcoming earth below.

Hugs, photos, smiles...relief, as I watched my older daughter coast into her landing safely. More hugs, photos and smiles...and now angst. It was Cara's turn. She wanted to go up on the second session, so she was about to prepare for a jump with a complete stranger. My brave girl. I was both excited for her and incredibly nervous as I madly snapped off dozens of pictures of her. She suited up with harness and loaded into the plane. "What kind of mother am I?" I was thinking half laughing and half horrified.

After fifteen minutes, the ground instructor pointed to the plane above the clouds and said, "There they are! See that little spec? That is Cara in mid jump!" The time from seeing her jump to when her chute opened seemed like 20 minutes. It is funny how different perspectives view the same event. As she neared the ground, I heard her holler and whoop and watched her wave as she soared above. I am not going to lie, I was happy the whole thing was over. I took a huge sigh of relief when all three of us were finally safe on the ground.

In the 20 minutes after, we viewed our photos, laughed and shared our thoughts and perspectives of the jump. As we watched each other having their moment, it was truly exhilarating. The photos were incredible and captured each second of our experience. Cara was ready to go again. She felt that a second jump would be a more memorable experience. Taylor and I were content with our first, and likely last, jump out of a plane. Mission accomplished...one more thing checked off the bucket list!

Perhaps Cara will go again someday. Perhaps all three of us will be a little more adventurous in the future because we will look at things from this new perspective. As far as creating life long memories, this was a great way to celebrate all three of our birthdays; ages 49, 23, and 20. The grass looked greener, the sky looked bluer and we all felt a little more alive on the drive home.

I have to give "props" to the wonderful skydiving company and instruction team that safely, professionally and passionately escorted us step by step through the jump. Skydive Palm Beach is located in a hangar at Palm Beach County Glades Airport in Pahokee, Florida. I chose this company for their experience, safety record and location, all of which is explained in detail on their website www.skydivepalmbeach.com. Call them at (561) 586-7669 with any further questions or to schedule your jump. ■

Home of the Champions and Olympians

In 2008, Marissa and Michael Zoldan bought TAG USA Gymnastics and transformed it into the largest and most successful girls and boys gymnastics program in South Florida. "TAG USA's popularity comes from how we establish a personal communication with every family and we get to know the needs of every child. The organized and safe way we conduct recreational classes are very organized, and how we invest in a unique experience for every athlete," explains TAG USA's owner Marissa Zoldan.

Michael Zoldan says that TAG USA's success is due to the "obvious big differences in our programs from other gymnastics programs." TAG USA's 40,000 square foot facility is the largest in the area, and along with space, there is an extraordinary amount of equipment. "Our athletes do not share floor space or have to wait in lines because of what we have invested in extra equipment and spacing of the gym." Michael adds, "We also invest in managers and directors who monitor class lesson plans and rotations, making sure that each class is conducted safely and efficiently." The success of TAG USA's gymnastics is evident by the popularity of their many preschool, girls and boys gymnastics, aftercare and camp programs.

Families are welcome to begin their TAG USA experience with a FREE Baby Tumblers class for newborns and moms. The next step up is the Preschool Gymnastics class teaching basic tumbling, beam walking, and bar skills. By age five, a boy or girl athlete will move to the beginner, intermediate, or advanced classes. All classes are taught by a lesson plan that allows athletes to gain safe new skills in step-by-step progressions.

TAG USA Gymnastics is known as the "Home of the Champions" as their athletes have five NATIONAL CHAMPIONS since 2013. No other gym in the region has National Champs in boys gymnastics, rhythmic gymnastics, and three in trampoline & tumbling. Besides National Champs, TAG USA has had two athletes named to the National Team and many Regional and State gymnastics champions. Since 2009, TAG USA has also won nine team State Championships in boys and girls gymnastics... something no other gym has accomplished.

One of the unique experiences that members of TAG USA enjoy are the famous guest Olympian visits to the gym. TAG USA is also known as a "Second Home to Olympians." Famous Olympians that have visited include: Aly Raisman, Shawn Johnson, Nastia Liukin, Jordyn Wieber, Samantha Peszek, Jonathan Horton, and Sam Mikulak. TAG USA wants their young athletes to get to know famous Olympians who share their similar interests. Marissa explains that team members, class athletes, and campers realize that these famous Olympians also trained hard, have had their ups and downs, and have balanced school work with their athletic experiences. Marissa states, "Meeting an Olympian creates personal bonds for our young athletes and a memory that lasts forever." It is these special experiences that helps make TAG USA very unique.

TAG USA gymnastics is located at 1951 North Commerce Parkway in the heart of Weston. Most classes are available Monday through Fridays and Saturdays at multiple times; please call TAG USA at 954-384-9191 to register for available classes. Classes are grouped into ten week sessions with the most competitive prices.

Arts Council Brings Art and Culture to Weston

By Debby Teich

Jami Nix Rahn is a visual artist with a degree in Fine Arts. As president of the Arts Council of Greater Weston, Inc., she is sharing her passion with other Weston residents by providing diverse arts and culture events and activities for kids and adults of all ages in an effort to help build the community through the arts. "Art impacts a community in so many ways - esthetically, financially, and spiritually," said Rahn, who has been a member of the Council for the past five years. "Weston is a multicultural, family-oriented community. The Arts Council works to bring shared aesthetic experiences that unite us all in an esprit de corps."

The Arts Council is an independent, volunteer, nonprofit organization that serves as a liaison between the community, the City of Weston and the Broward County Cultural Affairs Division. The board includes 15 local business leaders, arts advocates and retired professionals that advocate and promote arts and culture events, and also review event requests for recommendations to the City Commission. It is not necessary to be on the board to volunteer.

The Student Artist Showcase is an annual event typically held at the end of the school year. Art teachers from all of the public and private schools in Weston have an opportunity to enter their students' artwork in a juried show at the Weston Branch Library. After professionals in art and education view the art works and select placement awards in different grade categories, a reception is held for the artists, their families and teachers. The Mayor of Weston and City Commissioners attend the reception and assist in distributing placement ribbons and small monetary awards.

"Art provokes critical thinking and understanding," said Rahn. "It encourages collaboration, stimulates experimentation, and inspires discovery and invention. These are all tools that are crucial for our children's success in a twenty-first century world."

Children and families also have an opportunity to experience the arts during the annual Celebrate the Arts Day, when Young At Art Museum partners with the Council by bringing their outdoor studio to Weston. At the event, which is typically held in January, children can paint, make crafts, get their hands muddy at the potter's wheel, express their creativity on the 28-foot graffiti wall, try an instrument at the instrument petting zoo, visit booths that demonstrate photography, ceramics and book art; and much more. Local high school band, chorus and drama departments provide entertainment throughout the day.

The Weston Foreign Film series has become one of the Council's most popular events. It began nine years ago with 50 people in the Weston Branch Library and has grown to sellout crowds of over 400 people at the Weston 8 Cinemas (now owned by AMC). The Foreign Film Committee spends hundreds of combined hours viewing films throughout the year to select the ones they feel the Weston audiences will enjoy. Tickets are sold through the Friends of the Weston library and at the Weston Regional Community Center. The Council is currently negotiating with the AMC to continue the series beginning in January 2016.

The Arts Council is always looking for new ways to bring art and culture to the community. One of the many ideas they are exploring is to host an international food and entertainment event next season. They always need volunteers to help plan and execute their events. "The Arts Council is looking for volunteers with computer skills, clerical skills, organizational skills, and those just willing to pull up their sleeves and assist us in our many wonderful activities," said Rahn.

Intuitive Touch Massage

SACRED LOMI® MASSAGE

From the Islands of Hawaii

What is Lomi Massage?

Lomi Lomi is an ancient and beautiful massage modality whose origins come from the islands of Hawaii. Simply put, Lomi Lomi means to "massage" or "knead". A unique and revitalizing experience, ancient Lomi has been handed down from the "Kahunas", or master Shamans of Hawaii. Believing that "dis-ease" can block energy flow, traditional Lomi facilitates deep release, not only from muscle tension, but from limiting thoughts and beliefs as well. Sacred Lomi® promotes restorative healing for the whole self in a very individualized and therapeutic session.

What should I expect from a Lomi Massage?

Lomi Lomi is an incredible whole body experience which maneuvers around the entire individual at once, utilizing forearms, elbows and hands. Excellent pressure combined with long, flowing strokes that reach from head to toe in continuous, rhythmic movements, embrace both the top and underside of the body. This strong and powerful dance allows the recipient to completely "let go" and "receive", gently provoking the mind and body to surrender. The result is increased energy flow, restorative balance and complete harmony. Sacred Lomi® addresses the whole being; physical, mental, emotional, and spiritual.

Will Lomi address my specific pains?

Lomi Lomi is one of the most individualized and intimate modalities of massage therapy. A soothing environment allows the recipient to freely discuss their appropriate history, particular areas of concern and personal comfort level as it relates to massage therapy. Your therapist will adjust pressure and technique to meet your individual needs and your treatment will be uniquely tailored to address your specific reasons for scheduling a Lomi massage. No two experiences will ever be identical. This modality promotes transformative healing; reducing pain, improving discomfort, releasing tension and nurturing your body and mind.

How long does a traditional Lomi massage take?

All sessions incorporate hot stones, warm towels, aromatherapy, scalp massage and reflexology on a comfortable heated table. The treatments are typically 60, 90 and 120 minutes in length. It is very rare for Lomi by Lori to accomplish a traditional, therapeutic Sacred Lomi® massage in 60 minutes, therefore she recommends your initial visit to be at least 90 minutes.

Is Lomi recognized by a Certification Board? Why don't more massage therapists specialize in Sacred Lomi® Massage?

Sacred Lomi® courses were developed by Tom Cochran and Donna Jason as a healing art designed to empower the individual student to heal themselves first and then offer that healing to others. Approved by the National Certification Board for Therapeutic Massage and Bodywork (NCBTMB) as a Continuing Education Approved Provider, Sacred Lomi® offers basic workshops coupled with advanced training retreats. Practicing and receiving Lomi each day, the student experiences first hand the spirit of "aloha". This relatively small family of advanced Sacred Lomi® practitioners have built a strong "Ohana". Advanced training deepens the love for this ancient art. The commitment for higher knowledge and growth requires time, travel, and monetary consideration.

Lori is a nationally certified, licensed massage therapist who has practiced therapeutic massage in South Florida since 2001. Lori earned her license from Educating Hands School of Massage in Miami, considered to be one of the top "Ten Best Places to Study Massage Therapy in North America". Three years ago, Lori attended a basic Sacred Lomi® massage CEU workshop and it had a profound impact on her practice. She has since attended various advanced trainings in Sacred Lomi® and will be studying in Hawaii this spring. She passionately incorporates her knowledge and skills into her practice and into her life.

CREATING PEACE IN YOUR HOME DURING THE HOLIDAYS

By Jodi Kurry Cohen, M.S.Ed., Director of Early Childhood Programs, Temple Dor Dorim

The time of year is coming when we begin to run around frantically preparing for the holidays. We rush to prep our Thanksgiving meals, make arrangements for travel and we start to do our Hanukkah shopping, making lists of the items we need to buy for family, friends, co-workers and other important people in our lives. In the chaos that surrounds the holidays in all our preparations we often forget to stop and teach our children about the true meaning of this time of year.

What lessons do we want our children to learn about the meaning of these holidays? Are we teaching them history and traditions or that this time of year is all about stress in a mad rush to get things done? It is important for all of us to stop for a moment and reflect on this question. A good way to gauge how your child views this time of year and what it is all about is to ask them and see how they answer.

In our focus to please those around us by preparing big elaborate meals, waiting in long lines at stores, wrapping gifts, writing cards and dealing with relatives, our tempers begin to flair and our patience becomes short. At the time of year that is supposed to be about giving, caring and kindness to others, we become the least understanding to our loved ones. We seem to remember to give to charities and help those in need but tend to neglect those closest to us.

There is a Jewish Value that is commonly found to be important in all religions, to model for our children, called Shalom Bayit. Shalom Bayit is about creating a "peaceful home." While obviously giving to others and being kind to others is important and necessary, it is just as important not to neglect those closest to us that are not strangers. Peace needs to start in the home. Our families are the people we often take for granted. Our friends, relatives, our spouses and our children, the reasons why we are rushing and planning and doing in the first place, we end up putting last on our list of importance. We become short-tempered with them and our time for them becomes limited while we rush about trying to get things done.

However, the best gift we can give our loved ones is time. They want our attention, an ear that is truly listening and a chance to spend some quality time together. Quality time is meaningful time, not time spent running around a mall, the grocery store or doing chores.

Take the time to stop and reflect how you can create meaningful time with your loved ones during this season of rushing. Stop and remember why we celebrate these holidays with loved ones in the first place. If you do this, and reprioritize the way you are spending your time, you will begin to see the holidays as less overwhelming and instead look forward to them as a time to bring joy and peace into your heart and into your home.

Community Service Ideas for Teens

By BRACE Adviser Julia Kasper

The community service requirement for all high school students in Broward County is 40 hours, of approved service. Most students graduate with well over that amount. If a student earns over 250 service hours from 8th grade graduation through high school graduation, they would be eligible to wear a silver cord during their graduation ceremony. As a parent, you can help your child find organizations and places to volunteer and hopefully become engaged in. Here are some areas where local teens have developed a strong tie:

- The Humane Society of Broward County
- Habitat for Humanity
- ARC Broward County and City Parks
- Beach Clean Up Projects
- Broward Outreach Center

“We are hoping the requirement for service hours sparks interest in helping others, not just who can earn the most hours,” said South Plantation High School Principal Christine Henschel.

Students can also take an initiative and create their OWN service projects. Here are some ideas your child may be interested in:

1. Book Drive. Begin collecting books from everyone you know. Start a library in one elementary class. Maybe go to your favorite elementary teacher that you had and ask them if you can create a library for them in their room.
2. Park clean up. You can gather a few friends and help clean up ANY park. Just think of the impact you could make if you went to ONE park for ONE hour each weekend.

3. Coat drive. So many students in Broward County do not have cool weather clothing due to our warm weather. When we do have a cold snap, there are thousands of students who do not have proper clothing. You could collect jackets and sweaters from families for each social worker in the public schools.
4. Snack drive. Collect boxes of snacks for the social workers in the public schools to keep in their office. They know the students who need the food and usually can set up something for students in need to come by their office each Friday to take some snacks with them so they have food on the weekends.
5. Coach a sport. Be a volunteer coach for any team. Helping other children counts toward your service hours. Help out in any area you are strongest in. You can check in your city to help with city leagues, but there are also several county leagues that help children with special needs learn to play sports.

Every student should check with their guidance counselor for log in sheets and always make a copy of any hours worked before turning in the forms to your school. A great website is www.handsonbroward.org for projects in Broward County by dates and times.

Give your child a tool for a bright future.

Cypress Bay turns Media Center into

By Olivia Ohayon, School Newspaper Writer • Photo by Morgan Comite, School Newspaper

CYBER LOUNGE

As the school year at the Bay rolled in, students soon found that the traditional media center they have always known acquired a summer upgrade. The new cyber lounge, "The Wave," offers a wide range of technological features for students to utilize and pair their own electronic devices with. Principal Scott Neely had envisioned a facility in which students would be able to embrace the new way of learning through technology. "Mr. Neely wanted the cyber lounge to be able to do those things that the kids are doing now with all the new technology that they have," Assistant Principal Marianela Estripeaut said.

Most tables have outlets directly connected to them, which provide a place for students to charge their phone, tablet, or other electronic devices. "I think students are used to using technology all the time and it has become second nature to them, so a facility such as the new cyber lounge is going to encourage more students to come in and enjoy all the technology," Media Clerk, Lina Agosta said. Even the chairs have the ability to move quickly so when the students are working in groups they can regroup easily and work with someone else. The high-top tables have the capability to connect a tablet or laptop to and then cast what is on the device on to a larger computer screen. Similarly, there is a conference area, which offers tablets for use during a seminar or meeting.

"It was a beautiful media center before, with nice furniture and everything, but it didn't have the capabilities the new one has," Estripeaut said. Principal Neely wanted the cyber lounge to feel modern and retro with a different look and vibe than the previous media center. "If you notice the furniture that it is in there, it all has a specific purpose," Estripeaut said. The furniture is not only functional, but has gotten a great response aesthetically. "When I first saw 'The Wave,' my mind was blown. I would not expect the library to improve and look as nice as it does now," senior Rueben Cubas Bazan said. Bazan said that last year he had used the media center for studying and homework and he was impressed with its new look when he first found out about the renovations through a Snapchat.

"The transition to the new facility did not take that long. We met with a county-approved vendor regarding the furniture and we worked out the little intricacies," Estripeaut said. There were several stages involved in planning the new cyber lounge including picking the exact materials, as well as flooring and wall color. "After we figured out what we wanted it to look like, we got to the fun stage, which is deciding on the little decorative accents," Estripeaut said. You see these decorative accents as soon as you walk in. One being the large, ornamental decal that says "The Wave" contrasted against a gray wall. Even the windows overlooking the planning rooms are decorated to look like a huge fish tank.

"When I first saw the cyber lounge I was impressed because I didn't expect that they would decorate or upgrade it this much. A technology-focused school and Internet access gives you unlimited resources, but at the same time keeping some of the books was also a pretty good idea," senior Juan Cuartas said. Most hard cover books that are still readily available and in the cyber lounge are non-fiction. "The shift towards more computers and less books has been an easy transition and my roles and responsibilities haven't really changed," Media Clerk, Terri Nelson said.

Estripeaut believes that "once you go forwards, you can't go back." However, she does not think that means that students will never pick up a hard cover book again. "I think that you have to change with the times. Sometimes we hold on to the old way of doing things when it's inevitable that change comes along and change is here. Students read a lot of texts through their electronic devices. We can't prevent that from happening," Estripeaut said.

Agosta said she thinks more students will be interested in coming in to study or to download because it's something that they are used to. "We wanted the name to reflect the electronic flow and wave of information," Estripeaut said. "We went through several different names and obviously Mr. Neely is a surfer and the surfing theme permeates the school." The electronic flow and wave of information are things that the facility represents. "I don't think the name could suit it any better," Cuartas said.

The overall response to the catchy title and new addition to the large school has been positive. "I think the students are going to absolutely be thrilled with it," Estripeaut said. "I think it's beautiful that what he had in his mind is now becoming a reality."

FALCON COVE ATHLETICS KEEP ON WINNING

By Evie Hoopes, Athletic Director

The Falcon Cove Athletic Department is one of the most decorated programs in Broward County. Since the doors opened in 2000, they have won a County Championship every year, in at least one or more sports, for a total of 26 County Championships. This is an amazing achievement when you consider there are more than 50 middle schools in Broward County. The backbone of the lustrous program is the leadership of Coach Hoopes, who has been the Athletic Director for 13 years. Coach Hoopes has created one of the most respected and successful programs in the county, winning Falcon Cove their first County Championship in Volleyball in 2000 and going on to win a total of 10 County Championships in the 15 full years the school has been opened. Falcon Cove is going into its 16th athletic season this year. Coach Hoopes works diligently to try to inspire the athletes to work hard, be committed to their teammates and coaches, and to just be good people. All of Falcon Cove's coaches are one of a kind and extremely dedicated to their players. We are looking forward to another phenomenal year with Coach Hoopes, Coach Stupp, Coach John, Coach Santora, Coach Johnson, Coach Malone, Coach Grant and Coach Malca.

Last year, the athletic department had another phenomenal year winning 3 division championships and 3 county championships. Coach Vargas coached two undefeated seasons and two County Championship teams (Boys soccer and Boys volleyball).

Our girl's soccer team has won 3 championships in a row, which included 2 undefeated seasons and a 1-loss season. We came up a little short last year and finished the season 8-2. Coach Vargas led the boy's soccer team to a division championship and their 11th championship, in 15 years, with an undefeated season. Chris Machado was voted the game's MVP.

Our girl's basketball team, led by Coach Thompson, had a good season 4-4. Our boys, led by Coach Johnson, finished with an 8-2 season, a great finish for them. It was the first time the boys made it into the second round of the playoffs.

The county brought back volleyball to our middle schools. Coach Hoopes and Coach Stupp led the girls to a division championship, an undefeated season, and a County Championship. Coach Vargas led the boys to a division championship, undefeated season, and a County Championship. Corina Palacios and Mariano Rodriguez were voted the game's MVP's.

Flag football: Both teams did well having a 4-4 season.

Track: Ran their way to a great season as well.

Falcon Cove is excited for the 2015-2016 athletic year to have another great year in all of our sports.

EAGLE POINT ELEMENTARY EXPANDS DUAL LANGUAGE PROGRAM

By Andrea Nobil, Literacy Coach

Eagle Point Elementary is thrilled to announce that our Dual Language Program has expanded this year to include third grade. EPE was the first public school in Broward County to implement the innovative two-way immersion (TWI) model two years ago. The program features half of each day in which English-only is spoken and the other half of the day where Spanish-only is spoken. All content areas are presented in both languages, with non-repetitive lessons that enhance delivery of the targeted skills. This TWI model is highly compatible with the Florida Standards (FS). Early success and increasing demand enabled the English-Spanish program to grow one grade each year since the kindergarten and first grade inception. Ultimately, the TWI classes will be offered in kindergarten through fifth grades.

Two years into the TWI program, our third grade dual language students are currently reading a chapter book in Spanish and engaged in recreating experiences from the main character's life. The book, Judy Moody Está Mal Humor, de Muy Mal Humor, is about a spirited third grader. Projects include creating a Me collage and taking care of a pet Venus flytrap. This thematic, multidisciplinary unit is an ideal example of integrating standards with Spanish literacy in a relevant and engaging format that supports our dual language curriculum.

With Hispanic Heritage Month quickly approaching from September 15 to October 15, all of our dual language students are getting excited about the planned projects and events. Kindergartners are dressing a figure to represent their parents' heritage. First graders are conducting research on Hispanic countries to learn all about the culture and will compose research reports. Second graders are designing luggage that represents the country of their families' heritage and will dress in traditional costumes. Third graders are researching Hispanic Nobel Peace Prize winners and will present multimedia reports. All EPE students will participate in school-wide events such as a paella lunch and salsa dancing lessons.

Eagle Point's dual language program upholds the school's mission to empower students to become leaders with a passion for lifelong learning. EPE staff and families are proud to support bilingual, biliterate, and bicultural experiences that nurture global citizenship. Griselda Camino, parent of a second grade TWI student, summed it up best when she said, "Dual language is a phenomenal program that has enriched my daughter's education beyond expectations. She has constant opportunities to embrace her Spanish culture and cultivate a global perspective. I feel confident that she will be well prepared to succeed in her future thanks to this strong foundation."

By Heather Hedman-DeVaughn, Principal

Each year our staff votes on a theme and this year was no exception. Our theme for 2015-2016 is "Manatee Bay Elementary, where Superheroes are made."

The theme truly typifies our school. Manatee Bay is an award winning school with teachers, staff, parents, PTA and partners that truly go above and beyond for the goal of student achievement. We have overcome some insurmountable obstacles as a team and have seen the power of what has resulted when each person gives their utmost of what they are gifted with!

We explained to the students that a super power is what you can do that is better than most people, whether it's Math, Reading, Science, Social Studies, Writing, Art, Music, Sports, Caring, Giving, Helping, etc. Our goal with this theme is to further develop all our super powers and leave this year with a few more super powers under our belt. Throughout the campus you will see evidence of this theme with our bulletin boards and decorations and also in the classroom and throughout the campus.

When the teachers and staff came back from summer break, we talked about people in our lives that were super heroes to us and how that helped shape our lives. As the principal, I shared how my father was always a superhero to me. Growing up, I actually believed he was the strongest person in the world. Because of his selfless love, caring and support I always felt like I was the wealthiest person in the world and my dad can do anything. We then dimmed the lights in the cafeteria and each staff was given an individual light. After our Assistant Principal and I read a very empowering poem to our staff, we all shone our lights as a symbol to let our light shine. Our light being the unique powers that we bring to education. WOW!!!

With the help of 2 of our wonderful partners (Curriculum Associates and ASP), we were able to provide every teacher and staff with a cape to remind them of the unique and SUPER person they are and what they bring to our AMAZING school. A program like this was done for every group in the school, teachers, Office Staff, Teacher assistants and custodians — no group was left behind. We are all super heroes and as we let our light shine we give others permission to do the same.

Get Involved With Your Child's Education This School Year

By Dr. Raymond J. Huntington

You've probably heard before how valuable parental involvement is when it comes to supporting a child's academic success and well-being. Researchers and education professionals continue to find that a family's involvement in their child's education is not just beneficial, but essential. Parental involvement is closely tied to student achievement, high motivation, self-esteem and more.

But how exactly should you get involved, and how much? Are certain activities more beneficial than others? Here are several suggestions on how you can get involved with your child's education this school year and make the most of those efforts.

Voice your opinion on school issues. Attend meetings for your school's Parent Teacher Association and help weigh in on important decisions that impact your child's education. This is a great way to make changes at your school and a wonderful way to get to know teachers, administrators and other parents.

Spend time at school. Volunteering in the classroom helps your child's teacher, but it's also a great opportunity for you to observe your child's work habits and behavior. Another idea is to volunteer in the lunchroom or help out during lunchtime activities if your child's school allows it. Be sure to stop into the classroom to touch base with your child's teacher as well.

Foster your child's learning at home. If your work schedule doesn't allow you to get to school much, don't worry. Parental involvement and student achievement studies show that at-home activities, such as reading with your child, actually have a greater impact on student educational outcomes than involvement such as parental participation in school events. Whenever possible, be on hand to help your child with homework. If your child is older and does homework independently, you can still ask questions and show interest in school, homework and what your child is learning (and enjoying).

Get to know the teachers in your child's life. Building a home-school bond is important. Make sure to attend all parent-teacher conferences, but also maintain open lines of communication with the teacher in between. Ask how you can best support your child at home and keep in touch about how those efforts are going.

Work on the basics. A less obvious way of parental involvement is to help your child develop some of the essentials for school success: organization, time management, good study habits and maintaining a schedule. These skills require consistency and practice and most children need support at home to learn them. Run a structured household. Maintain a predictable school routine and encourage your child to do the same.

TEQUESTA TRACE MIDDLE STUDENTS ARE ECO-PARTNERS

By Carolyn Sant Angelo, Science Teacher

Eagle Tequesta Trace Middle School wants to protect our precious planet! The school-wide theme this year is "TTMS Eco-Partners" and will involve the whole Weston community in environmental awareness!

At the beginning of the year, families were invited to make school spirit posters from recycled materials. A friendly competition between classes rewarded staff and students who had reusable water bottles because the students want to "Do something drastic! Avoid the plastic!"

Throughout the year students will be involved in monthly activities like improving their recycling practices and measuring waste during Zero-Trash Lunch Days. Classes from all subjects will integrate environmental topics, such as analyzing graphs on environmental topics. Student Eco-Ambassadors will work with classes and with the Exceptional Students to manage the recycling so less waste goes to landfills. The science curriculum addresses topics like ecology and sustainability to evaluate how well we are (or aren't) taking care of our planet.

The Junior Honor Society's Environmental Committee members will be organizing service projects, for example, participating in Broward County Beach Clean Ups and collecting and recycling water bottle caps to support "Caps of Love" that fundraises to provide wheelchairs for kids in need.

Later in the year students from the Cambridge Program and the Butterfly Garden club will be hosting an awareness festival with interactive booths, wildlife and habitat guest speakers and more! Feel free to support or even donate to the cause of being stewards of our planet.

BCPS CONFUCIUS INSTITUTE STUDENTS VISIT CHINA

Broward County Public Schools (BCPS) Confucius Institute hosted 17 students from Cypress Bay High School, Fort Lauderdale High School and Pompano Beach High School in a summer trip to China that took place from July 14 – 31, 2015. Students traveled and visited historically and culturally significant locations throughout Beijing and the Jiangsu province, including the Confucius Institute headquarters, Tiananmen Square, Palace Museum and Great Wall of China.

During the trip, students had the opportunity to experience and immerse themselves in the unique Chinese culture and traditions firsthand, including improving their language, reading and writing skills; calligraphy and painting, Tai Chi martial arts; dumpling making; and Chinese arts and music. As they traveled, students shared their insights and experiences in blog stories.

"This was an incredible opportunity for these high school students to learn firsthand Chinese culture, which will help prepare them for success in the 21st Century," said Bob McKinney, Advanced Studies Coordinator and Confucius Institute.

The Confucius Institute at Broward County Public Schools reaches 1,200 students and includes activities at one elementary school, two middle schools and four high schools promoting Chinese language and culture. BCPS is the first and only District in Florida to have a Confucius Institute.

Three University School Students Are Making the World A Little Sweeter

By Debby Teich

Three fourth grade students at University School of Nova Southeastern - Ava Pinkiert, Lindsey Rubinger and Olivia Rosen - are passionate about helping others. Two years ago, the friends turned a class project into an opportunity to give back to their community and make the world a little sweeter.

It all started when the girls were together in Alison Dolberg's second grade social studies class. Dolberg asked the kids to form groups and develop a "business plan" that included something they could sell to make money for a charity. They decided to sell cupcakes and named their "company" C-Sweets. Both the girls and Dolberg liked the idea so much that they decided to implement the plan "in real life." "It is important to give back," said Ava. "I am lucky and I want to help others." Olivia agreed. "I am thankful and I want to help others to have a good life and have what I have."

One day after school, the girls spent two hours selling cupcakes and water to their neighbors and raised $167. Since all of them love animals, they agreed to donate the money to the animals at the Humane Society of Broward County. They delivered the money in person and got a tour of the facilities so they could see how their donation would benefit the animals.

Eager to make a difference again, the girls recently got together to brainstorm their next fundraising effort. In keeping with the company name, "C-Sweets," they agreed to sell Oreo cookies and lemonade. Since they wanted the money to benefit kids their own age, they decided to donate the profits to Joe DiMaggio Children's Hospital. They set up a neighborhood stand and raised over $200.

"The best part of the donation is knowing that the money is going to a good cause," said Lindsey. "The children will benefit from the money we raised. It will help make their stay more pleasant in the hospital."

When the girls delivered the money to the hospital, they received a personal tour from Kevin Janser, Sr. Vice President and Chief Development Officer, and Jackie Johnstone, Director of Annual Giving. They viewed the facilities and learned about the hospital's services. They heard stories about some of the kids, including one about a girl who loves the color pink and was living at the hospital awaiting a new heart. They met Nutmeg, the hospital service dog, and Lotsy Dotsie, the clown. By the time they left, they had a good understanding of how their money would impact the hospital and its patients.

"The girls were very affected by this visit and were happy to know they did something good," said Gayle Rosen, Olivia's mom. "They understand that no matter the amount of the donation, it is more important to develop an early passion for giving back. They now have an even greater desire to do more."

On the way home from Joe DiMaggio, the girls decided that they wanted to implement a fundraiser every year. They have already been discussing ideas for their next project, which might include selling donuts. Their goal is to make more than the previous year, which they have been able to do since they started. Part of the plan includes more advertising. Although the girls are too young to know what they want to do when they get older, they all agree that they will pursue careers that help people.

Eat, Pray, Debate: a Rewarding Day at St. Thomas Aquinas High School

-THE NATIONAL CATHOLIC FORENSIC LEAGUE TOURNAMENT-

By Annamaria Preti

Saturday, May 22nd was a very special and busy day at St. Thomas Aquinas High School. Months of planning and careful preparation, under the attentive guidance of Jennifer Kwasman, head of Forensics, Speech and Debate at St. Thomas, led to a memorable day for many students, teachers, and parents coming from all over the country for the National Catholic Forensic League tournament. The event was held between Nova Public High School and St. Thomas on Saturday, and Nova Southeastern University (NSU) on Sunday.

Every year the competition moves to different locations. Last year it was in Chicago and next year it will be in Sacramento. This year St. Thomas was assigned as one of the main hosting schools for the Saturday competition. The whole school was well prepared to host over 800 people including students, judges, parents, staff members, and volunteers. The tournament brought teams from 81 dioceses in 37 states, such as Kansas, Alaska, Minnesota, Massachusetts, and Pennsylvania.

The cafeteria became the gathering point for all students competing. Throughout the day, the kids had access to a variety of food, drinks, and snacks. Breakfast, lunch, and dinner were served starting before 7:00 a.m. There, the students could relax while recollecting their thoughts and trying to get ready for their next round.

The gym was tastefully transformed into the judges' "headquarters," where they could relax between rounds. After dropping their ballots, they had the chance to take a break and get ready for their next round. St. Thomas provided them with three hot meals: breakfast, lunch, and dinner, plus all-day freshly brewed coffee and cold drinks to keep them cool in the hot Florida weather. A variety of snacks helped to satisfy those little cravings between meals.

St. Thomas staff and volunteers, always providing great service with a smile, made sure that everybody had what they needed. The St. Thomas students themselves were located throughout the campus ready to help with directions. Teachers, parents, and kids alike were proud of showing their school and making everyone feel welcome.

It was very satisfying to see so many people visiting from all over the country and gathering together united by the same love and passion for debate. Over the weekend, however, speech and debate became more than an extra-curriculum activity, both on a personal and social level. During the whole day, anyone could witness the interactions among the kids coming from different places and various backgrounds, eager not just to compete, but also to learn about each other's experiences and cultures. Both Catholic and non-Catholic students shared common values and showed great respect and tolerance towards one another and towards the ideas and opinions of other faiths. St. Thomas opened its arms to all.

The competition became a tool not only to increase one's self-confidence, but also to be open-minded towards a variety of ideas and ways of living. Ms. Trina Smith, called by her students "Ms. T.," Program Manager for the Baltimore Urban Debate League, said, "This competition opens doors to so much more! It shows what's beyond our own school and our own town. There is so much to see and learn, so many possibilities, and this experience at St. Thomas is giving the kids a great example: don't be afraid to dream big!"

The team from Pennsylvania was really impressed by the experience, as well. They all agreed they had the chance to participate in numerous tournaments all over the country, but were amazed by the great organization, the warm hospitality, and friendliness of the St. Thomas family. "You have spoiled us!" said one of the teachers accompanying the team. At the end of the day, winning or losing was not important anymore. The main achievement was being able to make new friends and develop lasting relationships.

The day ended at the Hilton Marina Hotel, where everyone gathered to celebrate the Mass. Father Sullivan's words were inspiring. He praised all of the dedicated kids, teachers, and parents attending this great event and he encouraged everyone to always do their best. "Be all that you can be!" he emphasized throughout the service. "Each of you has a gift. Be thankful for it and use it to its best potential." The night might have been over, but those words and the new memories created will be kept in our hearts and follow us for many days to come.
